BY THE GOVERNOR.

A THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

The recurrence of each autumnal season, bringing with it the substantial tokens of Divine favor, reminds us that we should render to Almighty God public acknowledgment of our gratitude for His manifold blessings.

Now, therefore, I, William E. Smith, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby appoint Thursday, the 21st day of November, instant, a day of Public Thanksgiving and Praise. Let the day be observed by the suspension of public and private business, and by the holding of appropriate religious services and social festivities.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed.

(Great Seal) Done at the city of Madison, this 12th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one.

WILLIAM E. SMITH.
By the Governor:
HANS C. WARKEN, Secretary of State.

The Democrats do not want any more "off years." It is "too killing for anything."

Mr. Isaac T. Carr, of the Jefferson Banner, was married on Thursday evening to Mrs. Sara Smith, of Fort Atkinson.

Gutau has sense enough to appreciate the importance of the plea of insanity in his case, and approves it. He is arrogant and fat, having increased in weight ten pounds in a few weeks.

Well, one of the Williams has been surely captured. Let some other county be heard from. It is a good way to get a little reputation to capture a man supposed to be a Williams.

The most pleasing election news which has come to hand for a long time is that from Virginia. Burying Bourbonism in that State is one of the crowning features of the November elections.

Hon. S. W. Pierce, of Adams county, who has been in the Assembly several years, had the honor of running for the Assembly this fall without an opponent. Not a single vote was cast against him.

At last the Madison Democrat is forced to remark: "But it is astonishing to observe the persistence with which the people stick to the Republican party." The Democrat will perceive that the young men of Wisconsin are not being educated in vain.

A dispatch from Beaver Dam says that when it was known that Senator McFetridge was elected State Treasurer, the people of that city "became greatly elated," and in the evening marched to McFetridge's house, headed by Harter's band. A serenade was given, and speeches of congratulation made. A response was made in grateful terms by the treasurer-elect, and a general time of rejoicing had until the firing of cannon, cheers, and music by the band. Our people were wild with enthusiasm, feeling that the mantle of office had fallen on worthy shoulders.

The oldest and the richest convict in the Ohio penitentiary, is one Horace Brooks, who is now 74 years of age, and has been within the walls of the prison 31 years. He owned a farm in the suburbs of Cleveland, away back in 1850, through which a railway passed. One time the cars ran over some sheep, for which the company refused to pay damages. To avenge this wrong, Brooks obstructed the track, threw off a passenger train, in which five persons were killed. He was arrested, tried for murder, and sentenced to penitentiary for life. At the time of his conviction he was very rich, and his wealth now is enormous, his farm since becoming a part of the city of Cleveland. There is a sadness about his case, and it is deepened by the fact that his days are almost measured in consequence of a large rose cancer on his forehead which will shortly prove fatal.

In making up the list of members of the Assembly, according to political associations, Mr. Price will be a source of study. It will be necessary to decide whether he was elected as a Greenbacker, as a Prohibitionist, or as a Republican. The above is from the Milwaukee Republican, and there is a point well taken in the item. Price has been almost everything, and is willing to be almost anything to be contrary and to punish his personal enemies. He is a sort of a political weather-cock, here and there and everywhere to suit his over-changing and peculiar bent of mind. Last winter he went to the Legislature as a Keyes man. He voted for him two years previous, and still professed to be his friend. When he saw that Sawyer would probably be elected, he became a Sawyer man, and when some one asked him why he changed, he only said he intended to "ride on the loaded wagon." In 1877 he thought the loaded wagon would be the Greenback party, and he got on, and when he saw that would fail, he jumped off. He supposed this fall the loaded wagon would be Prohibition, and therefore he trimmed accordingly, and got all ready for a jump, but when Prohibition, Greenbackism, and Democracy were all left behind, he will likely climb the Republican wagon, because it was loaded.

There will undoubtedly be another attempt made this winter to pass a resolution submitting the prohibition question to the people. It came within a few votes of passing at the last session, but as there will be more Democrats in the Legislature at the coming session than there were last winter, there will not be much hope of such a resolution meeting with a success. We say this much because the Democrats are generally opposed to temperance reform, and more especially opposed to so sweeping a measure as that of prohibition. Nine-tenths of the temperance reformers are found within the Republican party, and if over a resolution submitting the question of prohibition to the people should pass, it will be passed by Republican votes in the Legislature. But there are a number of temperance Republicans who are opposed to such a movement for two or three reasons. It is a question whether such an amendment to the constitution would be adopted, the general belief being that it would be buried beneath an overwhelming majority. Then there are doubts as to whether such a measure, if adopted, would prohibit intemperance. Should such an amendment be adopted, it would wipe out millions of dollars' worth of taxable property, the owners receiving no compensation therefor. Again, the passage of a prohibitory resolution by the Legislature would throw the State government, including the Legislature, in the hands of the Democrats, and the last end of the prohibitionists would be worse than the first. From first to last it is a perplexing question. Many thousands who are temperance workers will oppose the prohibitory movement for reasons already given. Others will press such a constitutional amendment upon the Legislature, and fighting blindly will fight in vain. It would be a good thing for the common cause if the entire temperance force of Wisconsin were agreed upon some practical plan to be adopted that would lessen the evils resulting from the excessive use of liquor. Until they do so agree, and the plan agreed upon be one of common sense and utility, the temperance movement will be empty of great results.

When Jenny Lind came to this country in September, 1850, being then in the zenith of her fame, the enthusiasm over her arrival in New York, caused an unprecedented demand for seats, and taking advantage of this, Mr. P. T. Barnum, who had engaged the world's prima donna for the season, concluded to auction off the first ticket, which went for $647, the highest price ever paid in any country for a single seat to any entertainment. This large sum was paid by a young man—a latter by trade—on Broadway. He borrowed the capital with which to buy the ticket, and decided on this course simply as an advertising scheme, and it paid well, for his name was carried all over the United States, and in less than five years he had made a fortune out of the late business. Jenny Lind's share of the receipts of the first concert was $10,000, all of which she gave to local charities. During her stay in the United States she gave $50,000 in charities, besides large sums amounting to tens of thousands, to poor people who were deserving of her benefactions. People paid princely prices for seats, but they paid to hear the sweetest voice the world ever produced. Not since that time has any one attempted to demand exorbitant prices for concert seats, until Madame Patti appeared in New York on the 9th, when the best seats were held at $10, and not more than half of them were sold. Patti felt hurt when she found that Steinway hall was not crowded with a fashionable audience in evening dress, and to a New York reporter she said:

"Perhaps $10 may seem a large amount to pay for a seat," said Patti, "but it is really too high when you consider what is charged for entertainments in the great capitals of Europe? In Milan, for instance, I got $3,000 a night, where I have no right to demand more than Vienna, where I simply go to sing. In Paris the nominal charge for each seat is $5, and in Germany it is $7. I don't wish to be thought grasping, nor do I wish the people to think I have come here to make money, for I assure you I can make just as much money abroad. I am satisfied."

It has been said that the high price placed upon the seats is not altogether in consideration of her remarkable voice, but to meet her personal expenses which are exceedingly heavy, having two extravagant families to provide for—the Marquis of Oms and Signor Nicolini. This accounts for the high prices, and furnishes a stronger reason than ever why these prices should not be paid.

A RICH FIND.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Nov. 11.—Neil Gillis, of Stillwater, Minn., while prospecting for mineral in Northern Wisconsin and Michigan, discovered a vein in Outagamie county which assayed 60 per cent lead and fifteen ounces of silver to the ton. The vein is on the surveyed line of the Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western Railroad, and capitalists have purchased 120 acres. The syndicate consists of J. T. Kingston, of Necedah, W. G. Collins, St. Paul, of the road; Daniel Wells, Jr., of H. B. Reed, and other Milwaukee capitalists. Gillis values the first forty acres purchased at $100,000. For the three forty-acre lots $15,000 was paid. It is the purpose of the syndicate to purchase 100 sections of land in that vicinity.

THE NEW YORK ELECTION.

New York, November 11.—The latest information received at the Republican State committee rooms to-day placed the majority for the Republican State ticket at 12,722. These returns are complete, except from three counties, which are partly estimated. When full returns are received from these three counties it is probable that the majority will reach nearly 14,000. It was the subject of talk in the State committee rooms that much credit was due President Arthur for the assistance he gave in the canvass. It is said to be partly owing to his efforts that the Democratic majority in this city was kept down so low.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—The result in Virginia, which is now definitely ascertained to be in favor of the Readjusters, makes it practically certain that the United States Senate will be under the control of Republicans, at least after 1883. There is no reason to think that Mahone and his associate, who will be elected at that time, will not vote with the Republicans, as Mahone has done. At all events, they are not likely to vote with the Democrats, and in other States, while the Republicans have a probability of gaining two or three Senators, the Democrats are likely to lose and not gain. If the Democrats have really secured the New York Legislature their leaders here insist that they will redistrict the State so that there will be no more Republican Senators for some years. It is difficult to see how they propose to do this. However, having a veto power, the Virginia Readjusters, say that notwithstanding Mahone's victory, it will not result in putting the Riddleberger bill into operation, as the decision of the United States Supreme Court will prevent that. Advice received here make it probable that the claim of the Readjusters to at least 10,000 majority in the State is justified.

GUITEAU.

An Untiring Attorney—A Hypothetical Case of Insanity.

WASHINGTON, November 11.—Mr. Scoville, counsel for Gutau, announces tonight that he has prepared and submitted to several insanity experts, an hypothetical case, in which he recites the facts of Gutau's ancestry and personal life, which he expects to be able to establish. The object is to enable experts whom he expects to call to fully consider the case, to chew on the facts, as it were, and to give an intelligent and well-established opinion as to the sanity or insanity of the man. The case is purely hypothetical, giving the general facts which he expects to prove.

The point is, first, the acts of insanity in other members of the family, several having been confined in insane asylums, others having died insane, and still others having given evidence of unsoundness; second, the history of Gutau's own life, giving many incidents and a general view of his career, showing him to have indicated an unsound mind for many years and by many acts; third, his peculiar actions and letters prior to and just after the shooting, and the circumstances attending that event. Mr. Scoville says he has prepared the hypothetical case very carefully, and he feels that he will be able to sustain all his claims by competent witnesses. He has presented it, he says, to several noted insanity experts, and they have assured him that they would unhesitatingly pronounce a man with such a history and career as of unsound mind and an irresponsible being.

IMMENSE EXPENSES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The estimates for the next fiscal year are partially prepared. They considerably exceed those of the present year. The war department calls for $2,000,000 more, mainly on account of the increase in the prices of supplies of various kinds. The advance in the markets also affects naval and Indian estimates. The interior department will ask for $103,000,000 for pensions alone, which is about one-third of the entire revenue of the government. About 69,000,000 of this is on account of arrears of pensions. It is not yet determined whether the secretary of the navy will send in estimates for rebuilding our present navy and adding forty-two ships as recommended by the advisory board. It is expected, however, that the secretary will submit this report and his estimates of $91,000,000 to Congress as separate documents.

The requirements of the postoffice department in the way of expenses will be considerably less than usual. The report of the last quarter shows that the receipts were only $80,000 below the expenditures, which is a very pleasant approach to a self-sustaining budget. In addition to the estimate of a hundred million dollars by the Commissioner of Pensions for the next year, there will also be a deficiency of 20,000,000 on account of arrears of pensions. This will possibly surprise those statesmen in Congress who insist that the maximum sum to be taken from the treasury would not exceed $1,000,000. The pension list, which reaches, in any year, about one-third of the revenues of the government, must play an important part in the forthcoming debates in the next Congress over the reduction of taxation.

TRUEBLOOD.

He Skipped Out on the Eve of His Proposed Wedding.

KOKOMO, Nov. 11.—Quite a commotion in social circles was caused here to-day by the fact becoming known that Mr. Lin Trueblood, of this city, had quietly absconded (no one knows where) on the eve of his marriage with a Miss McDowell, a most estimable young lady of this city. They were to have been married last night at the residence of the bride, and a number of friends had been invited to witness the ceremony, but the groom failed to appear. Of course the wedding was indefinitely postponed. Mr. Trueblood is a most excellent young man, highly connected, and his strange conduct is unexplainable. Some time ago he told his father he was engaged to a young lady, but that he was not ready to marry now. His father told him to go to the lady and postpone the wedding until he was ready. The humiliation and grief of the young lady can better be imagined than described.

A fortune awaits Dr. C. R. Sykes, of 163 Madison St. Chicago, if he was not so utterly opposed to advertising his "Sure Cure for catarrh" and "Atmospheric Inhalator," but he says they need no advertising.

DAUBNER.

Indictment of Alleged Pension Swindlers.

MILWAUKEE, November 11.—The United States grand jury to-day returned indictments against George H. Daubner and Neil Burdock, the former for obtaining a pension under false pretense, and the latter for demanding exorbitant fees for prosecuting a pension claim. Daubner is a wealthy farmer of Brookfield, Waukesha county, and is the party shot by his neighbor, Iram Schowerman, last spring, for prowling around his premises after night to hold a clandestine meeting with Mrs. Schowerman.

THE NOTED DESPERADO.

OMAHA NEB., Nov. 11.—Sheriff Killian, of Grand Island, captured two Winchester rifles and two heavy revolvers with Ed Williams, also Maxwell, one rifle being property of Len Williams, who is still at large, pursued by a mounted party, which includes a brother of Sheriff Coleman, of Pepin county, Wisconsin. Ed had a hundred rounds of cartridges and a machine for refilling shells. Ed will be taken to Wisconsin as soon as proper papers can be made out.

PENSIONS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—The Commissioner of Pensions takes a very liberal view of the necessities of the pension service. He says he will ask Congress for $20,000,000 to cover a deficiency in the disbursements of the present fiscal year, while $100,000,000 is his lowest estimate for the next fiscal year. In addition to that he says that it would be better if Congress would make an appropriation of $200,000,000 and increase the clerical force so that the arrears of pensions can be speedily settled. As, after they were once settled, the annual appropriation would be reduced to $10,000,000.

A PUBLIC EXECUTION.

PAYETTEVILLE, W. Va., Nov. 11.—Henry Jenkins was hanged at 1 o'clock to-day for the murder of Winfield Saunders, at Nuttalsburg, on New river, May 16 last, the supposed motive being robbery. Both were miners and worked together. A large crowd was in town all night to witness the execution, the gallows being located so as to give a good view to twenty thousand spectators. The Hawk's Nest rifelemen were brought out, but no disturbance occurred. The prisoner was baptized, and made a partial confession. He was composed on the scaffold, and died without a struggle.

THE CONDUCTORS' CASES.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 11.—The cases against Joseph Gavin, Stanley Cunningham, and S. G. Weller, three of the Wisconsin Central conductors charged with embezzlement of fares, were called prosed in the municipal court to-day on account of a technical error in drawing up the complaint. The error consisted in beginning the suit in the name of the Wisconsin and Minnesota railroad company, a corporation having no legal existence. G. L. Mead, another of the conductors, was acquitted yesterday on this account. The former three will be tried on a new complaint, August Gould, the scaler, arrested for receiving the stolen tickets, was also discharged on the same ground, but will be prosecuted.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Camp Life in the Woods—Household Hints—The Bloody Chasm.

CAMP LIFE IN THE WOODS. By W. HAMILL. Illustrated. 12 mo. cloth, $1.00. New York: Harper & Brother. Chicago: Jansen, McClurg & Co.

To hunters, or to those living in the woods where game is reasonably plenty, this book is of much practical value. It contains comprehensive hints on camp shelter, log huts, bark shanties, woodland beds and bedding, boat and canoe building, beside valuable suggestions on trapper's food, and so on. It also has chapters on the trappers' art, containing all the "tricks" and valuable bait receipts of the profession, full directions for the use of the steel trap, and for the construction of traps of all kinds; detailed instructions for the capture of all fur-bearing animals and also valuable recipes for the curing and tanning of fur skins and the like. It is illustrated by one hundred and forty-three cuts.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS. By Emma Whitecomb. Illustrated. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Chicago: Jansen, McClurg & Co. Cloth, 60 cents.

This is one of Appleton's latest and best of the "Home Books." It aims to help the young house-keeper who comes to her new duties without much preparation, and with no one to advise or assist her. Cook-books, like "every man his own lawyer," are generally a humbug, but the Appleton series of home books are truly valuable, and this one is written in that homelike vein which will be found not only interesting but useful. If housekeepers want a practical little work on common sense house-keeping—one which will prove a constant companion, they can do no better than to own and read carefully this little work on household hints.

THE BLOODY CHASM. A novel. By J. W. DeForest. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Chicago: Jansen, McClurg & Co. Cloth, $1.00.

Those who have read Mr. DeForest's "Kate Beaumont," or "Playing the Mischief," will be eager to read "The Bloody Chasm," which has just come from the press. The ground for the story is laid in the South and immediately after the war of the rebellion. There are some interesting characters in the work which are written up in a happy manner. The persons he brings forward are real people—our own people, and they are never overdrawn, but most intensely alive they are with the passions and prejudices of these peculiar times. The heroine of the story is a young South Carolinian—a beautiful young woman, brave, sprightly, full of sectional hatred, but so good that the reader cannot help but applaud her. The story is just such a one that would bear dramatization, and would take well, as it is full of striking incidents, interesting situations, novel characters, and pithy and laughable dialogues.

tion concerning this old city. These lectures are too good to be missed, and the entire course of six lectures only one dollar per ticket, which is an almost nominal price.

—Arrangements have been completed

by which Dr. Vincent, the famous Sunday school man, is to hold a Sunday school congress here December 7th and 8th.

The Janesville district conference of the Methodist church will be held here

the Tuesday preceding this, so that the ministers and others desiring, can attend both meetings conveniently. All who are interested in Sunday school work will be glad indeed to learn that Dr. Vincent is to be here, and the meetings will doubtless be crowded with those anxious to get all the help and suggestions possible out of this prince of Sunday school men, and all denominations are urged to participate in the convention. On the evening of the 7th, Dr. Vincent is to deliver his popular lecture on "That Boy." All who have heard this lecture are enthusiastic in its praise. It is said that Dr. Vincent considers the highest compliment ever paid him upon this lecture, to have come from a rugged little urchin, who after listening to it, came up to the platform, and told him—"Well, minister, that boy's just as boys is."

The lecture is a thrilling, interesting, and popular one, and Dr. Vincent may be sure of a hearty welcome in Janesville.

If Adam had had a game of "fifteen"

placed in his hand at an early period of his existence, the whole course of history might have been radically altered for the better, and if biliousness, indigestion,

sick headache or dyspepsia were unknown, SERRA BLOSSOM would not be needed. Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.

Sold by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.
